The space behind the moment

Where experience meets execution

Planning a wedding means balancing expectations, emotions, and logistics — often all at once. Whether you are organising your own celebration or delivering it on behalf of your client, everything needs to come together seamlessly. That starts with the right space — one that performs as well as it looks.

Freedom to create, without compromise

Our temporary wedding structures give you the freedom to design a setting that fits the occasion, without being limited by location, capacity or existing infrastructure. From intimate outdoor ceremonies to large-scale, multi-day celebrations — we create spaces that support both the experience and the practical execution behind it.

The right setting, wherever you need it

Not every location is ready to host a wedding. And not every wedding fits within a fixed venue. Our structures transform almost any site into a fully functional wedding location — from private gardens to remote outdoor settings or existing venues. You define the place. We make it possible.

Flexible by design

Wedding plans evolve. Guest lists change. Timelines shift. Our solutions are built to adapt. Structures can be expanded, reconfigured or adjusted — even at short notice — while keeping planning and execution aligned. Because on a day like this, flexibility is essential.

From structure to complete environment

A wedding space needs to feel right — and function as one. We deliver fully equipped environments, including:

- Flooring and substructures
- Lighting and sound
- Climate control (heating and air conditioning)
- Power and water supply
- Interior systems and furnishings
- Sanitary and back-of-house facilities

Everything is designed as one coherent setup — from infrastructure to guest experience.

Atmosphere, shaped by design

Atmosphere is created through space, light and flow. With transparent systems, refined finishes and adaptable layouts, our structures support a wide range of settings — from open, light-filled ceremonies to more intimate evening environments. Always aligned with the character of the event.

Delivered with certainty

On a wedding project, execution needs to be predictable. Our teams manage the full process — from planning and engineering to installation and dismantling — ensuring reliable delivery and a smooth setup.

One partner, fully responsible for the space.

Solutions for every type of wedding setup

Our portfolio includes a wide range of structures, suitable for different scales and concepts:

- Pagodas and smaller structures for intimate settings
- Medium and large-span tents for receptions and dinners
- Double-deck structures for multi-level experiences

Each solution can be configured to match your layout, guest flow and functional requirements.

For private clients and professionals alike

Whether you are planning your own wedding or managing it for your client, the expectations are the same: reliability, quality and a result that works exactly as intended.

With over 100 years of experience in temporary structures and event environments, we understand what it takes to deliver under pressure — and how to create a space that supports the occasion.

Space for what matters

On a day where everything needs to come together, the space should not be a concern. It should simply work — exactly as planned, and exactly when it matters most.
